TONYE AGANABA SHORT BIO (100 WORDS)

Tonye Aganaba is a multidisciplinary artist, musician, and arts facilitator residing on the unceded territories of the Squamish, Musqueam & Tsleil-Waututh First Nations. Their new album 'Something Comfortable' is an intentional and devotional endeavour inspired by their battle with Multiple Sclerosis. The album serves as the score to 'AfroScience' an immersive performance and workshop series fusing live music, dance, visual art/digital media and storytelling to stimulate conversation and action around identity, public health, and expression. Tonye's shows, workshops, and dialogues are connected and intimate experiences, and evoke a kind of vulnerability that we all hunger for.
